1. Pose the problem

The young generation are the future owners of the country, bringing with them wisdom, health, and dedication. President Ho Chi Minh once emphasized: “Youth is the future master of the country. Indeed, the country’s prosperity or decline, weakness or strength is largely due to the young people”[2]. Therefore, propagating and educating the young generation on traditional history and revolutionary ideals is necessary and contributes to building and strengthening beliefs, political bravery, character formation, and living ideals for the young generation. younger generation. Being well aware of this problem, in recent years, the propaganda and education of traditional history and revolutionary ideals for students at Tan Trao University has been promoted with a variety of contents and forms.

2. The implementation and organization of propaganda and education on traditional history and revolutionary ideals for the young generation at Tan Trao University

2.1. Actual situation of implementing and organizing the propaganda and education of traditional history and revolutionary ideals for the young generation at Tan Trao University.

42-CT/TW of the Party Central Committee’s Secretariat, term XI, on “Strengthening the Party’s leadership in the educational work of revolutionary and moral ideals, the school has implemented and effectively implemented Directive 42-CT/TW of the Party Central Committee’s Secretariat, term XI. , cultural lifestyle for the young generation in the period 2015 - 2030”; Decision No. 1501-QD/TTg of the Prime Minister approving the project “Strengthening education of revolutionary ideals, morality, cultural lifestyle” for young people, teenagers and children, period 2015 - 2020.” From there, “promoting the role and responsibility of organizations in the political system for the education of revolutionary ideals for young people” [3], thereby identifying responsibilities of faculties, departments and organizations for this work.

Faculty and subject lecturers have gradually innovated programs, contents, and teaching methods for subjects like History, Political Theory, Culture, etc., in the process of teaching, the lecturer gives students pride about the indomitable tradition of his father’s generations under the leadership of the Party, reinforcing the students’ confidence in the national renewal process initiated by the Party [4], [8].

The school pays great attention to the historical content of the province. Specific guiding documents on teaching the history of the Party Committee of Tuyen Quang province were issued for timely implementation, integrating teaching of party history with political theory subjects. From 2013 to now, the Party History program of Tuyen Quang province has been taught by the Department of Political Theory for regular university and college classes after finishing the subject of Revolutionary Way and History of the Communist Party. Vietnam... contributes to improving the effectiveness of traditional education in revolutionary history, arousing students’ pride and self-respect and the tradition of loving the homeland and the country.

The Youth Union - Student Union of Tan Trao University has organized many contests to learn about the history, traditions, homeland and country, organized propaganda sessions on major holidays and commemoration of the birth/death of the student, national heroes, great leaders of the country. In 2019, organized a multiple-choice contest to find out 90 years of glorious history of the Communist Party of Vietnam. Motivating students to participate in the online contest “Understanding Tuyen Quang province - 190 years of establishment and development (1831-2021). Students of Tan Trao University won excellent prizes at the contest “Student” Vietnam - Singing the Hung Ca song forever” organized by the Central Youth Union...

Organizing activities on resources, visiting historical sites and revolutionary bases in the locality; visit the history museum; participate in embellishing martyrs cemetery, planting ornamental flowers, whitewashing graves, lighting candles in gratitude to martyrs at the martyrs cemetery in Tuyen Quang province... Through these activities, “raise awareness for union members, young people about the tradition of heroic revolutionary struggle, ready to fight and sacrifice for national independence of the forefathers generation, promote the principle of Drink water, remember the source” [7] to help young people be grateful for the past. The system has sacrificed blood and bones to gain independence and freedom for the country, reminding today’s young generation to follow in his father’s footsteps and continue the cause of national construction and defense.

In addition to the achieved results, the fact that this work at Tan Trao University still has shortcomings such as: The propaganda and education work has not been well invested in terms of time, conditions, and material... educational effectiveness is not high. The teaching method of some lecturers is not really attractive, has not created interest in learning for learners, many research contests of the delegation have not been implemented effectively.

A part of students, students do not fully understand the revolutionary tradition of the nation, pay little attention to the situation of the country and the world. “They have not spent much time learning about local and national history, but often surf the web, internet, and social networks for entertainment” [5]. Despite being born and raised in the land of the revolutionary homeland, cultivating knowledge in class, many students still have a vague understanding of the origin, place, and historical hero associated with the place. In their locality, many children could not answer the question: Why is Tuyen Quang called the Capital of the Liberation Zone, the Capital of the Resistance? Why is the school named Tan Trao University? ...

Cause: Due to the influence of the market mechanism, the media does not often focus on setting examples of good people, good deeds, traditional history, and the example of predecessor revolutionaries [6]. Besides, the negative side of modern media also makes students lazy to study, lazy to think. In addition, the cooperation between schools, families and society in educating revolutionary ideals and lifestyle ethics for young people is still limited and not diverse in form.

2.2. Some solutions to improve the effectiveness of propaganda and education of revolutionary ideals for the young generation at Tan Trao University.

Firstly, strengthen the leadership and direction of the Party Committee, the School Council, and the Management Board of Tan Trao University in the propaganda and education of traditional history and revolutionary ideals for the younger generation.

In the coming time, the Party Committee, School Council, and School Board of Directors will direct more closely the faculties, subjects, centers, TSE high school, etc. to promote propaganda and education to all students. , students in the school, plan to regularly organize inspection, assessment, review and draw experience in propaganda and education. Increase investment in modern equipment and facilities such as: sound, light, projector, wireless microphone to serve teaching and extracurricular activities.... “At the same time, build a library with a number of textbooks, books, newspapers, magazines, especially documents related to the fields of history, culture, politics”... [1].

Besides, the Party Committee, the School Council, the Board of Directors also need to pay more attention to both material and spiritual activities of the Youth Union and the Student Union in organizing extracurricular activities. Building a healthy environment, creating conditions for the young generation to study, practice, strive and grow up. Strengthen coordination between schools, families and society, between departments, branches and mass organizations in propaganda and education for the young generation.

Second, improve the quality of the teaching staff who directly participate in teaching, propagating and educating the young generation on traditional history and revolutionary ideals.

Improving the qualifications of lecturers has a great influence on the quality of human resources in the future. Young lecturers need to actively register for exams and study to improve their professional qualifications (master's, doctoral). Because the sooner they learn to improve their qualifications, the more time they have to accumulate professional knowledge, form thinking, scientific working methods and practical knowledge, contributing to good professional performance. as well as the propaganda and education of traditional history and revolutionary ideals for the young generation in schools.

Do well the ideological work for students and students. “Currently, anti-terrorist activities are taking place strongly with many sophisticated forms and tricks through non-traditional information channels, especially social networks” [8]. “The younger generation is sensitive to the economic - political situation when there is a change” [9]. Therefore, the task of the lecturer is not only to impart professional knowledge, but also to integrate into the lecture the orientation of awareness and action in order to limit the negative psychology that may arise from students and students. . Mastering the fundamental theories of Marxism-Leninism, Ho Chi Minh's thought, the Party's lines and viewpoints, and being able to recognize false and reactionary claims.

Trainers actively participate in training and learn from their own experiences. Teachers in the school should have a plan for self-training, striving to improve their political, ethical and professional qualities; self-study, self-study, accumulate knowledge and documents not only in the field of expertise, but also need to expand the background of necessary supporting knowledge, including historical, political, cultural knowledge, ... Regularly grasp the economic, political and social situation of the country. Participating fully in the training sessions of the Propaganda Department, Department of Education, Tan Trao University... deployed.

Third, renovate the content of propaganda and education of revolutionary ideals for the younger generation through lectures.

Innovate and integrate propaganda content into lectures, thematic, extracurricular, and experiential activities. Political theory lecturers need to master the theoretical system and relate and apply the scientific theoretical basis to solve practical problems; information selection, classification to have rich and diverse practical examples, illustrating the theoretical content integrated into the lecture... While propaganda must be specific, practical, close to reality, have data, documents, facts, grounds, clear arguments, short, concise, easy to understand, making propaganda content rich, vivid, attractive, sexy and persuasive highly responsive, meeting the needs of learners.

Innovating teaching methods associated with practice. Adjust teaching methods, reduce presentations, increase exchange, suggest problems for students, students to discuss and enhance self-research ability; know how to find and read reference materials, besides organize games related to the learning content, creating an exciting and engaging learning atmosphere. In addition, to regularly and continuously update knowledge; put the content about the biographies of heroes, historical places, a battle front, a traditional profession or a cultural festival, a characteristic of each ethnic community in the lecture, through which Students, students understand the traditional values of the nation; local traditions...

Fourth, strengthen the role of the Youth Union, students, and functional departments in propagating and educating the young generation on traditional history and ideals of the revolution.

The Youth Union and Student Union of Tan Trao University need to continue to innovate the contents, forms and methods of propagating and educating the youth union's history and ideals of the revolution in the new situation. Regularly and diversify propaganda activities, educating young people about the glorious tradition of the Party and the Youth Union, educating the revolutionary tradition, patriotism, pride and national pride for the Union. pellets. Through periodic activities of the branch, distributing materials to propagate the Party's resolutions, the guidelines and lines of the Party, policies and laws of the State.

Organize more activities to visit, give gifts and pay tribute to heroes, war invalids and martyrs, people with meritorious services to the revolution. Organizing contests, art and sports festivals associated with the great anniversaries of the Party and the country... Organize forums, seminars, youth festivals, watch historical films and exhibitions. Actively and actively mobilized union members to participate in patriotic emulation movements. Actively mobilized union members to participate in the Olympic Games of Marxist-Leninist Science and Ho Chi Minh Thought.

The Youth Union and Student Union need to actively coordinate with mass organizations, families and society in educating the youth union's revolutionary ideals, ethics, and cultural lifestyles, renovating internal content of propaganda and education through social opinion, on social networking sites, leaflets, leaflets, banners, slogans and other rich forms. "Exploiting, effectively using and timely and rationally applying information means and modern technologies to orienting values and enlightening revolutionary ideals, ethics and lifestyles for youth union members" [10].

Fifth, renew the method of propagating and educating the young generation in the history of the revolutionary ideals through practical activities.

Strengthen the organization of exchanges and meetings with historical witnesses. Not only teaching the children what is available in textbooks and textbooks, but also making them understand the fine traditions of the nation, especially the local ones, through pictures and field trips to relics. . From there, the children better understand the things in the book that the teacher taught. Organize for students, students to go to practice and then write the harvest instead of taking the final exam. In addition to learning knowledge about historical traditions, children can also have fun, entertain and interact with each other in accordance with the nature of learning and playing, through field trips, they will have great memories. beautiful, have a positive impression and therefore, the acquired knowledge will be remembered longer.

Organize more activities to study tours, field trips. Uncle Ho once said: "A vital example is worth more than a hundred propaganda speeches". Through examples of real people, real stories and "fire-fighting" stories, many young people will have a deep awareness of patriotism, a sense of their roles and responsibilities in learning. Historical witnesses such as heroic Vietnamese mothers, aunts and uncles in the Veterans Association; those who are responsible for preserving local cultural and historical traditions such as officials, staff, guides of museums, libraries and traditional cultural artisans. The exchange and meeting can be held at the school, in extra-curricular activities on the occasion of anniversaries or can organize visits, exchanges and tours at places where historical witnesses have been. living, working... are living witnesses for students to approach the tradition in a practical way.

Organize a contest to learn about local historical and cultural relics. The contest is an experiential activity of emulation among individuals, groups or class collectives, so this is an attractive and attractive form to meet the needs of entertainment, entertainment, discovery and fostering of talents. give students a positive learning motivation through finding out who/ the winning team is. The venue of the contest to learn about local historical and cultural relics is also very flexible, can be held in the field, in the school campus, in the classroom, in the hall, etc. In addition to some meetings If there are traditional contests such as: making wall newspapers, presenting contests, telling stories, writing contests by topic, units in the school can organize contests to promote talent, creativity and orientation. careers for students.

3. Conclusion

Tan Trao University was established in Tuyen Quang homeland - the capital of the revolution, the capital of the resistance war, where Uncle Ho and the Central Committee of the Party and Government were based to lead the long-term resistance war against the colonialists. French people to complete victory. Therefore, the propaganda and education of traditional history and revolutionary ideals for the young generation at Tan Trao University are always concerned and focused so that students can instill the ideal network, fully understand their roles and responsibilities in preserving and promoting historical, traditional, cultural and identity values in the cause of building and defending the socialist Vietnamese Fatherland. . The school looks forward to continuing to receive the attention, coordination and facilitation of all levels and branches in the propaganda and education of traditional history and revolutionary ideals for the young generation so that this work can be realized. deeper penetration and better performance.
